

Neal McDonough

Alexander Stewart, JIMMY

Multi-talented and award-winning actor Neal McDonough has been blessed to have an incredible career in the entertainment industry. He is now producing films alongside his wife Ruvé for the McDonough Company. Films such as Homestead, The Shift, The Warrant, Breakers Law, Redstone, Boon, Black Spartans, Bridged, The Writer, and most recently wrapped The Last Rodeo, which he also wrote alongside Jon Avnet and Derek Presley. McDonough recently wrapped and executive produced, alongside Ruvé, the film JIMMY opposite KJ Apa playing Alexander Stewart, Jimmy's father.

McDonough is now starring in Angel and the Badman opposite Zach Levi and Tommy Lee Jones. After, he will begin production on his next Western written with Presley called The Wicked and the Righteous.

McDonough is well-known for performances in productions, such as "Tulsa King," Yellowstone," Band of Brothers, Minority Report, Walking Tall, and Captain America. He has also starred in many stage productions, and most recently played Whitey Bulger on stage in Finding Whitey at the Wilbur theater in Boston. But he's most proud of his relationship with God, his wife, Ruvé, and their five children. McDonough trained at Syracuse University and studied at LAMDA in London.